young people, and their families"

Despite political, financial and societal challenges, we will seek to demonstrate and exemplify the unique role of school nursing and aligned services in successfully addressing widening health inequalities.

Submit your proposals showcasing your work across the high impact areas of the Healthy Child Programme, Healthy Child Wales Programme, Scottish Government Specialist school nursing: priority areas and pathways and Northern Irish Department of Health priority areas.

Posters demonstrating user engagement/involvement, are particularly welcome. Submit your ideas today and join us in illuminating the integral role of school and public health nursing across the UK and wider!
